

Stonehaven Journal

20 November 1862

A derelict ship, which appears to have been a Newfoundland sealer, came ashore some days ago on the island of Tyree. In her hold were number of small live fish not known on the west coast. She was named the Ruby, and seems to have been comparatively a new vessel. She was quite dismantled.

Transcription by Billy Clelland.